

The New Dragon Standard

Volume 1, Number 1

January—March, 2019

Shire of Drakenmere

The Honorable Lady Theodora Doukaina, Chronicler

Greetings from the Chronicler

My Lords and Ladies, this is the first issue of our revived newsletter. It is my hope to publish this newsletter quarterly in service to our Shire. Please submit articles, artwork, and suggestions for improvement to the Chronicler.

Dragon Tracks

In our previous newsletter, the “Dragon Tracks” was a column written by Lady Theodastria Loukianis (now known as THL Theodora Doukaina) in which she recounted the experiences of Shire members who attended various events. I would like to continue that column or willingly have others write their adventures.

Upcoming events for the three Kingdoms of our area are listed in the calendar at the end of this newsletter. As of this writing, four Shire members—Theodora, William, Rosamond, and Myfanwy—are planning to attend Bryn Madoc’s Twelfth Night. An accounting of that event, as well as others, is planned for the next edition of this newsletter.

Member Spotlight

This section is meant to highlight various members of the Shire. With this first issue, I am indulging myself in highlighting my beloved husband and son.

Lord William Fitz Patrick (Joe Foss) enjoys Arts & Sciences and served as our Local Minister of Arts & Sciences. He recently conducted a workshop dealing with the cultivation of fava beans. Lord William quietly serves the Shire in many ways.

Lord Jehan de la Poisson (Joey Foss) is a former member of the Shire of Drakenmere. Lord Jehan enjoys working with leather as well as participating in feastmaking and heavy combat and live weapons.

This is a scene from Danelaw in 2015 where the Shire was providing the fundraiser luncheon. Lord William and Lord Jehan were the cooks in charge of grilling chicken. Lord William is known kingdom-wide for his skill with grilling.
